New Video Projects How Blue Whales Apply Plan of Action Before Feeding/Arunraj P

Blue whales never became the largest animals lived on Earth till now by being delicate eaters and in the new video which is captured by scientists at Oregon State University projects how they choose and select their meals. According to the researchers, there is a reason for their discretion. The gigantic whales grow up to the length of three school buses at times which needs to be equalized carefully for the energy gained through their food intake with the energetic costs of feeding.
